The following notes outline the general duties and responsibilities of a Council member:

The Institute is a company limited by guarantee and is governed by the provisions of the Companies Acts. Its Memorandum and Articles of Association specify what it may do and how it should conduct its affairs. The business of the Institute is managed by the Council of Management who may do anything within the Memorandum and Articles of Association which is not contrary to any statute or is not required to be done by members in general meeting. This responsibility is a collective one and Council normally act through Council meetings. Council may of course delegate to individual Council Members but it has the final responsibility.

Council members are in a fiduciary relationship to the Institute and must exercise their powers for its benefit using reasonable diligence and care. They are required to take proper account of the interests of the Institute, as well as its members. They act as agents of the Institute and only become personally liable if they authorise any act or expenditure outside the Constitution. They may not receive any remuneration or benefit as Council members except out of pocket expenses; this includes benefit of any contract with the Institute by a company of which they own 100th of the share capital or more.

Apart from presenting annual reports and accounts and appointing certain officers, the Memorandum and Articles of Association lay no specific duties on the Council. Its responsibility is a general one of running the affairs of the business. Any individual responsibility springs from authority given by the Council and this will clearly vary from time to time. Council members are expected to serve a four year term of office and to attend all Council meetings (normally three each year). To assume responsibility for at least one area of Institute administration and management.

Secretary
